

Light-Points: A Conversation 23 February 2012, 6-8pm, The Redfern Gallery

Light-Points, an exhibition of drawings by Linda Karshan, will be hosted by the Redfern Gallery, 20 Cork Street, from 1 February – 1 March 2012.

The show features new work from 2011, together with drawings from 1996 and 2002. To celebrate the exhibition, you are invited to attend Light-Points: A Conversation, featuring Linda Karshan in conversation with Alyce Mahon (Senior Lecturer in History of Art, University of Cambridge), with the support of the Association of Art Historians. The event will be held on 23 February, 6-8pm. Movements, and their Images, the 7-minute film of Karshan working in her studio, by Candida Richardson, will be also shown that evening and the filmmaker will be present.

Please RSVP to art@redfern-gallery.com.

This exhibition and event have been planned to coincide with the exhibition at the Courtauld Gallery Lines Crossed – Grids and Rhythms on Paper, featuring the newly acquired drawing by Karshan, from 1996, surrounded by 16 Master Drawings from the Courtauld's Collection. In the exhibition, the Grid is explored from five angles: Perspective, Narrative, Design, as being 'Squared up', and finally, as 'Mise en Page'.

Lines Crossed has been conceived to complement the Courtauld's major new exhibition Mondrian||Nicholson: In Parallel, on view at the Courtauld from 16 February – 20 May.
